

Rodel foundation responds to Delaware getting 'Race to the Top' grant

The News Journal • March 29, 2010

"This is a huge and humbling opportunity" for Delaware, said Paul Herdman, president and CEO of Rodel Foundation of Delaware, after today's announcement that Delaware would get $100 million in federal "Race to the Top" education money.

The education nonprofit was a major backer of the Vision 2015 school reform plan.

With that opportunity comes the pressure now to deliver, he said.

"There's going to be a lot of attention on all of us here," Herdman said. "The eyes of the nation are going to be on little Delaware."

Advertisement